

To all Pocono Rally attendees:

I just wanted everyone to be aware of Kleen Tank's attendance at the rally this year and understand the importance of this service. None of us really like to think much about our gray and black tanks, nor do we give them the attention they deserve. Regular tank cleaning, using the right equipment, is a great idea and it can prevent far more costly and inconvenient repairs. Kleen Tank technicians are the pros and the ones I trust with my tanks. They use a specialized system to enter the tanks (outside, through the drain valves) to clean all interior surfaces of the tanks with exactly the right amount of pressure. It is common for both gray AND black tanks to form an accumulated layer of sludge on the sides and bottom of the tanks. The sludge also forms over the level sensors giving erratic readings. Sometimes, chunks of the sludge may break off and accumulate around the gate valves which will cause a poor seal. A professional tank cleaning will remove the sludge, facilitate better emptying and likely improve the health of the level sensors. I highly recommend this service. They will perform the cleaning at your sight without the need to disconnect or relocate. What more can we ask for? Great service, discounted price, no interruptions, great technicians. Please sign up and take advantage of this opportunity.
